LITTLE ROCK (AP)— State Education Commissioner Arch Ford said Wednesday that a proposal would be submitted to the 1967 legislature that would set out minimum standards for quality education.

Ford said the proposal, advanced by the state Education Department, would be a consolidation measure of sorts, but one based on quality and not size. He said one of the major provisions would be the elimination of "C" rated and un-rated schools, which would be given time to raise their schools to "B" or "A" status.

Ford said that if they didn't they would be merged with districts better able to offer quality education regardless of their size.

The Arkansas Rural Education Association, which led the fight that overwhelmingly defeated a school consolidation measure in Tuesday's general election, has gone on record in favor of quality education.

Ode Maddox of Montgomery County, a key figure in the AEA campaign, said he would have to know all the provisions of the quality education proposal before he could say whether he favored it.

GOP Gains Threat to Great Society, Johnson's Re-election

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rolling impact of a midterm Republican breakthrough offered a fresh threat today not only to President Johnson's legislative program but possibly to his re-election in 1968.

While the GOP was surging to above-average House gains in balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats eight governor's offices.

This cemented Republican chief executives into political power bases in at least 25 states which will cast 230 electoral votes two years from now—20 in excess of the 270 needed to elect a president.

As final ballot counts stretched out the measuring tape, it became apparent that Johnson and his Democratic administration had suffered a crippling, though not necessarily lasting, defeat in contests where the President had thought Democrats might do very well.

The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the governorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to maneuver their states into the GOP column in the 1968 presidential contest. Voters have a way of making up their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's expected re-election bid certainly will make the GOP nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two doleful years since Barry Goldwater's crushing 1964 defeat by Johnson.

Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since GOP President Herbert Hoover's party lost 61 seats in the 1930 off year election.

The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.

Republican Image Gains in Senate

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — With heartened Republican leaders already setting their sights on the White House in 1968, the GOP may find its most valuable image-making gain was the new faces it catapulted into the Senate.

The election of Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, Negro Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan put these young GOP Turks into one of the world's most publicized forums, the Senate of the United States.

Their presence should pump some excitement in the Senate, as well as the GOP, give the old guard something of a face lifting and present Republican Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen a corps of new talent as well as a couple potential presidential candidates—to display.

Not that they will be able to turn the tide or be able to make much of an impact on legislation.

With a built-in edge of 50 seats this year, the Democrats will still command nearly a 2-1 majority when the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

All told, the Republicans were able to wrench three seats from Democrats — with Percy, Hatfield and Baker doing the wrenching — out of the 35 that were at stake. Former Congressman Griffin actually was appointed to his seat last May, but had to spend much of his time campaigning in order to win it in his own right Tuesday.

Broadcasters Seeking More Room

An AP Special Report

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The RAL Communications Commission is searching for more broadcast room as everyone from Uncle Sam to commercial television producers, taxi drivers and mobile restaurant owners flood the air waves.

The FCC feels the biggest pressure for a spot on the communications dial now is the fast growing land mobile radio service, uses of two-way radios.

Some feel the government may have to turn to television's Ultra High Frequency channels to find the room for expansion as more and more governmental agencies and private firms reach for a microphone.

Land mobile service includes fire and police departments, the military and public service companies whose need for quick communications is obvious.

Less apparent is the need to equip city garbage trucks with two-way radios and radio-dispatched portable pizza and enchilada parlors. But they are there nonetheless. Even the Archdiocese of New York has a radio setup.

A segment of the FCC says that the only available space for these services is now currently occupied by the government and commercial UHF television channels 14 through 83.

There apparently is little chance the FCC will be able to free the government-held frequencies. The Defense Department has most of them and contends they are needed for military matters.

That leaves only the UHF channels and, even though they are sparsely populated with television stations, any decision to allocate them—even if it's only two or three channels—for the two-way radio users would be painful to the FCC. The commission for years has been trying with some success to develop them for commercial and educational use.

Since World War II the land mobile radio service has grown from practically nothing until today there are more than 230,000 authorizations for such systems in the United States of these, 155,000 are for business.

Users of these mobile radio systems have been complaining that their channels are so crowded that base station interference is blotting out communications.

Nobody doubts that the UHF television spectrum is sparsely stilled. Nationwide there are 121 stations on the 70 channels available while 495 stations are crowded on the 12 Very High Frequency channels—2 through 13.

But the FCC has not wanted to cut down the number of UHF channels available for future expansion.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Electronic devices that can spot cigarette and belt buckles from an airplane several thousand feet high are being used nightly in Viet Nam to ferret out the Communists, an American military source said today.

The source said the United States is using the latest heat and metal sensing devices to find Viet Cong and North Vietnamese moving under cover of darkness.

The demilitarized zone, called DMZ, between the two Viet Nams — now a highway for Red troop infiltration southward — is a regular beat for the super snoopers.

The heat detection system uses an infrared-type process and can spot a camp fire or even a dozen soldiers taking a smoke break.

"First they fly over and make a map of an area, for instance the DMZ, when there is nobody there. They know what it should look like then," the source said. "Then the next time they come across the area, they use the earlier map as an overlay on the scope."

"They fly along out of small arms range until something shows up on the scope and if it is not on the overlay, bombers are called in."

"The metal sensing gear is just as sensitive but doesn't even need heat."

"They do the same thing on it. They fly over and make soundings under normal conditions and then later blast anything that is out of place. If there are half a dozen guys down there with belt buckles or knives or guns or anything made of metal, the plane will know it. In come the bombers and boom: No more belt buckles or people either. It's amazing."

The source said that the detection devices are responsible for some bombing raids that American B52s make in areas where there is no reported U. S. military activity.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Buie of Prescott announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Vickie Carole, to Neil Barwick, son of Mrs. Violet Barwick of Hope and the late Mr. S.Z. Barwick.

Miss Buie is a graduate of Prescott High School and is employed at Nevada County Abstract Company. Mr. Barwick graduated from Hope High School and is associated with Barwick Electric Shop in Hope.

The wedding will be an event of Friday, December 2 at the Assembly of God Church in Prescott. No cards will be sent. All relatives and friends are invited.

Miss Buie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Henry of Hope.

COMMUNITY THEATER MET NOVEMBER 7.

The Hope Community Theater had a meeting at the City Hall on Monday, November 7 with Mrs. Chris Petre presiding over the business session. The assembled group read the play, "The Women" by Clare Boothe Luce. Coffee and cookies were served to 20.

HERITAGE HOUSE SCENE OF TEA

Mrs. Dorsey McRae, Sr. was honored with a tea at the Heritage House on Wednesday, November 9 by Mrs. Blanford McRae, Mrs. Mary McRae Davis, and Mrs. Dorsey McRae, Jr. The honoree was attired in blue with a yellow orchid corsage, which was used for former school pupils. Receiving with her were Mrs. Mary McRae Davis and Mrs. Bruce McRae of Denver, Colo. Pink was the color scheme with beautiful mums on the mantle and carnations on the piano. Friends of the honoree sent her these flowers and the two lovely arrangements of pink roses in the dining room.

An assortment of dainty tidbits was served with hot spiced tea. Pouring at alternate hours were Mrs. W. H. Glover of Malvern, Mes. William Duckett, and Mrs. R. L. Broach. Also dispensing hospitality were Mrs. A.C. Whitehurst, Mrs. W. M. Denty, Mrs. Taylor Stuart, and Mrs. H. L. Hanagan.

Approximately 150 called during the appointed hours. They included Mrs. Emon Logan and Miss Julia Logan, both of Prescott.

OUR LADY OF GOOD HOPE CHURCH

Our Lady of Good Hope Altar Society held their monthly meeting in the Parish House Monday, Nov. 7.

The door prize from the Shagbetti Supper was drawn. The winning ticket was held by Mrs. K. Wolloch of South Elm.

The ladies wish to thank everyone who participated and donated to make the dinner such a wonderful success.

AEO CHAPTER MEET

Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr.'s home was the scene of a meeting for Chapter AE, P.E.O., on Tuesday, November 8. Mrs. B.N. Holt was co-hostess, and the home was decorated with gold mums.

For the program, each member told of her personal travels this past summer. The hostess, Mrs. Stuart, led the group in the discussion which proved to be most enjoyable for everyone. The Chapter President, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr., conducted a brief business session.

Fall colors were used for the refreshments which included a salad plate and coffee for 16.

Approximately 6,500 persons were killed in home fires during 1965, about 2,100 of these being children.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

TURNED TABLES

Dear Helen: My sister and I share a bedroom and I am proud of how tidy it always is. We also do twice our share in keeping the rest of the house neat. We wash, iron, fold clothes, vacuum, scrub, etc.

But our parents' room is a mess! There's a chair you can't sit in because it's full of books, magazines, clothes, etc. Their desk is piled high with papers. The bed, the bookshelf and the floor are indescribable. When I have friends over and they get a glimpse into my folks' room I'm terribly embarrassed. What can we do?—E.D.

P.S. My brother's room is just as bad, almost.

Dear E: You didn't mention it, but I'm guessing that both your parents work outside the home. Therefore, they probably have more money than time. So why not strike a bargain? Offer to clean their room and keep it tidy in return for an increase in your allowances. (If your brother has a job, he might kick through too.) You girls evidently enjoy house work: make it pay!

Should they prefer disorder? Well, when company comes run quick and close the bedroom doors...as many not-so-lucky mothers do.—H.

Dear Helen: I have a terrible problem. We're very much in love, but he's in Viet Nam. He won't be home in time to give the baby a name. We want so badly to get married, but how, when he's half the world away from me? Our parents approved of our engagement, and we had set the date for when he was out of the Service. What shall I do?—R.I.L.

Dear R: Long distance marriages have been arranged before. Your fiancé should contact his Chaplain or his commanding officer to find out about proxy or telephone ceremonies. May you soon be a bride.—H.

Dear Helen: I am 16 and hate school very much. Don't get me wrong—it's not the books that bother me. It's just the idea of school, day in and day out. I try to talk to my parents but they don't understand.

I don't mind working. I would

Coming, Going

Mrs. Katherine Webb, Mesa, Ariz., and Mrs. V. A. Keith, Dallas, left for their homes Wednesday after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coop and other relatives.

Mrs. Clara Wright, Mrs. Juanita Rice, and Mrs. Hazel Underwood attended the Arkansas Nurses Association convention last Wednesday-Friday in Ft. Smith. At the organization's election on Friday Mrs. Underwood served as the teller.

AERIAL WAR AGAINST DROUGHT
 LUCKNOW, India (AP)—The chief minister of Uttar Pradesh, Mrs. Sucheta Kripalani, is waging an aerial war against this year's drought.

Airplanes are dropping leaflets over villages in this most populous of India's states, urging women to plant vegetable gardens around their homes. Mrs. Kripalani said home-grown vegetables would ease the food shortage.

FOR THE LITTLE MISS is Gabriel's Magic Phono, a battery-powered transistor phonograph designed for the preschool child. She simply puts a record into a slot and it plays automatically.

run away and get a job, but I want to make something out of my life. I want to finish school and become a commercial artist. But I can't suffer through these classes any longer and I have three years left.

It there any way I can get a high school diploma without attending regular school?—ON THE VERGE

Dear On: If you can't take six or seven hours a day of school, how could you stick it out eight hours a day on a job? You'll still have people to face, no matter where you go...And this is your problem, isn't it? I'd guess you don't hate school—you hate yourself for not being one of the gang, and you hate others for not accepting you, but it's safer to blame all your unhappiness on "day in and day out classes."

"Day in and day out" life won't be any different, friend, unless you overhaul the personality that makes you a quitter. Go after the REAL reason you "hate school," and then with the help of a counselor, learn you're only an outcast if you think you are. Good luck!—H.

P.S. If you're really determined: you can get a high school diploma at night school, in the Armed Services or by correspondence courses.

Personal to "Helpless" of Greenville: Stop worrying. I'm sure you're a curious, eager, imaginative, perfectly normal college girl, but you'll be much more at ease if a doctor reassures you. Don't be embarrassed. He knows women are human too.—H.

THE BORN LOSER

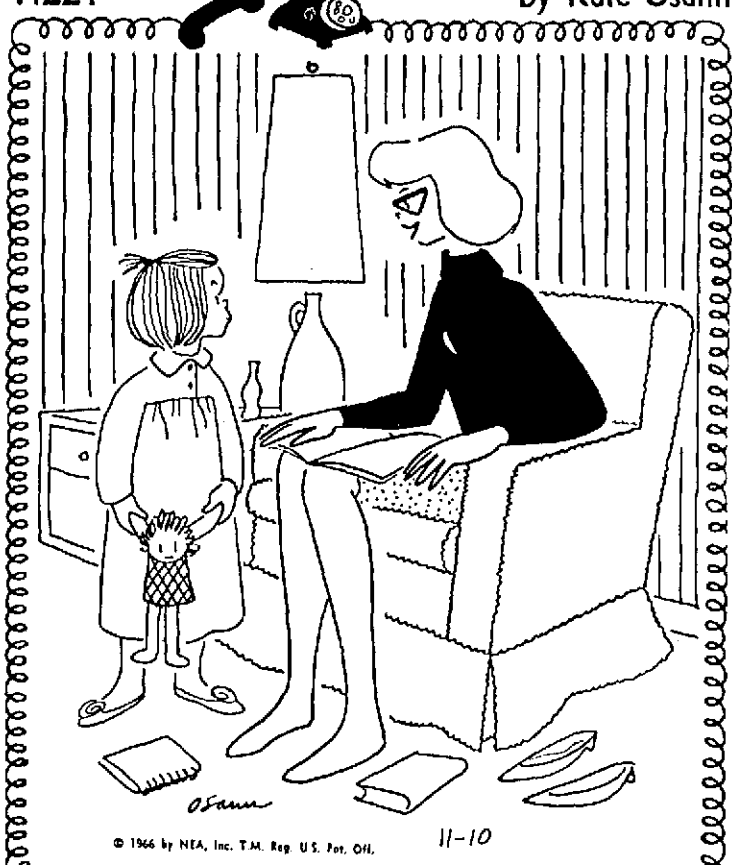

"False faces" go back to primitive man. A form of this is the totem pole. The Papuans of New Guinea, for example, build mammoth totem masks attaining a height of 20 feet. They are made of wood or bark cloth, and are given large painted eyes which are designed to frighten the enemies of the totem clan and to protect its members.

WIN AT BRIDGE

East Forces
Dummy to Ruff

Some people just hate to lead a card that they know will be trumped by an opponent. This is a natural prejudice but there are many times when you want to make such a play.

North and South arrived at four spades by what is sometimes called "Papa-Mama" bidding. In spite of the somewhat derisive name this bidding frequently is correct. South did not feel like jumping to four spades after a single raise but he wanted to make some further bid and saw no reason to confuse things by bidding clubs, hearts or diamonds.

As for North he had a maximum raise to two spades and no reason not to go on to four.

South was very unlucky not to make his contract. Perfect defense was required to defeat him.

As a starter West got off to the lead of the deuce of hearts. If he had opened any other suit South would have romped home. East cashed the ace and queen of hearts and with a third heart forced dummy to ruff. Had East shifted to a diamond or a trump, South would have

After East forced dummy South played one round of trumps and led a club toward dummy. West played the nine spot. East realized that West was showing either four clubs or two because the nine could not be his lowest club. East also saw that the only chance to beat the hand would be if West held four clubs. East ducked the first club, took the second and eventually made the setting trick in diamonds.

Brittenuum, White Meet Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE. —Two senior quarterbacks who accentuate the positive and alleviate the negative oppose each other here Saturday in a showdown for the Southwest Conference championship and host role in the Cotton Bowl.

Success by either does not assure immediate possession of the stakes, but only a sequence of improbabilities could spoil the spoils.

Odds favor the Arkansas Razorbacks, seeking an unprecedented third straight undisputed championship. However, if the yardstick were applied to the statistical records of the rival quarterbacks, the game with Southern Methodist would be handicapped as a toss-up.

Both Jon Brittenuum of the host Razorbacks and Mac White of the challenging Mustangs sat out the 1964 season, which makes a comparison of their career records quite valid. With Brittenuum sitting out the final game of the '63 season against Texas Tech, they have appeared in the same number of SWC games (18) when they meet Saturday.

White, currently ranked second among Conference ball carriers, accentuates the rush in his tactics. Brittenuum, who owns the best per-play average of the league's total offense leaders, seeks balance in the Arkansas attack, but generally he is recognized as a greater threat throwing.

The Razorback field general has the best completion percentage among the regular SWC passers (51.8), fewer interceptions (5), the greatest average gain per completion (15.1 yards) and the most touchdown passes per attempt (one of every 15.7).

White's forward passing figures pale in comparison with Brittenuum's, but his ability as a runner and the payoff of his passing rates him a standoff on comparison of career performances against common opponents.

In 18 Conference games Brittenuum has a total offense of 1893 yards to 1870 for White, little more than a yard difference per game. The Razorback has thrown 10 touchdown passes and scored four, giving him a touchdown responsibility of 14. White matches that latter figure through five touchdowns on passes and nine scored on his own carries.

In the two times they opposed each other, they broke even. SMU won in 1963, 14-7, with White scoring a touchdown and throwing for a two-point conversion. Brittenuum's lone statistic was an incomplete pass.

Arkansas won the 1965 meeting, 24-3, with Brittenuum scoring one touchdown and passing for another as he had a total offense of 166 yards on 31 plays, while White was limited to 78 in 29 plays.

Brittenuum holds a four-game edge in won-lost figures through the 18 games (13-5 to 9-9) and a 11-1 record in his two seasons as the regular quarterback. Undeclared this year, White has a 7-4 standing for the '65 and '66 seasons.

Against three common Conference foes (Texas, Rice and A&M), each achieved victories. White managed to generate more offense, 324.3 yards per game to Arkansas' 277.3 under Brittenuum. The carrot-topped Mustang also had an edge in individual total offense, 479 to 408, and a touchdown responsibility advantage of four to one.

But Brittenuum's charges produced the most points, 77 to 62, and he was supported by the stronger defense. Against the same foes the Razorbacks yielded only 206.6 yards per game while SMU was giving up 295 in coming from behind against all three.

RUBIN, L. H. BALTIMORE, Md. —Arlin Jones, the star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, was named the most valuable player in the National Football League.

PLAYED IN FOUR GAMES. OAKLAND, Calif. —The Oakland Raiders of the American Football League have named a new head coach.

In 1966 the Raiders, led by the season in Koyat Stadium, San Francisco. In 1967, the players in Candlestick Park and from 1962 through 1965, played at Frank Younkers Field.

Grade School Games Here Saturday

Local Football fans are reminded of the Grade School Football games to be played Saturday night, Nov. 12, at Legion Baseball Field. At 7:00, the Whites, sponsored by Hope Auto Co., will take on James Motor Company's Blues, and at 8:15, Roy Anderson's Reds will play Young Chevrolet's Golds.

These games are being played in an effort to raise money for the local Grade School Program. The League has gone to considerable expense in trying to suit out the boys playing in suitable, safe, football equipment. Much of this cost has been borne by the player's parents and a big percentage of the cost of new jerseys will be paid by the team sponsors, but this amounts to only half of the total expense incurred by the League. There are many less fortunate children who would not have been able to play had the League not provided them with equipment. The cost of equipping one player is $25.00.

Please come out to Legion Field Saturday night and watch these little fellows play football and you'll easily see why we want to keep them playing. No matter what you should contribute, you'll certainly get your money's worth, because these kids play for keeps.

Help the Football League make this a good night for you, for the League, and for all the boys participating. A special night, held two years ago was an overwhelming success. Let's make Saturday night even better.

Ranger Coach Getting Tired of Ties

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Emile Francis is tired of ties. The New York Rangers' manager-coach saw his club blow a 3-1 lead in the final minute as Boston rallied for a 3-3 National Hockey League deadlock Wednesday night.

In the only other game played, Jim Pappin's third-period power play goal lifted Toronto past Montreal, 3-2.

The game against the Bruins climaxed a stretch of five games in seven days for the Rangers and marked the third time that a late-game breakdown had cost New York either a victory or a tie.

Wayne Connelly was the villain Wednesday. He set up Ron Murphy's goal at 18:31 of the third period and then, after Johnny Bucyk's breakaway goal was disallowed because of an offside, Connelly grabbed a loose puck and jammed the tying goal home with 21 seconds left.

George Armstrong scored his first goal of the season and assisted on Toronto's other two as the Maple Leafs whipped the Canadiens. Pappin's game winner came at 9:21 of the final period. Brian Conacher scored Toronto's other goal.

Bobcats Will Try to Keep Win Streak

The recently revived Hope Bobcats will be trying to stretch their late season win streak to three games Friday night when they match forces with a AA giant-killer, the Nashville Scrappers in the season's finale.

The bobcats rebounded from a mid season slump two weeks ago with an impressive victory over the big Camden Panthers and continued their momentum last week by their conquest of the highly lauded Warren Lumberjacks.

Nashville has lost only one game a district decision to the powerful Ashdown Gridders. The Scrappers participate in District 7A action but in addition have topped the Bobcats 4A conquerer, Magnolia. The Bobcats fell to the big boys from Magnolia, 20-0, the week prior to their first comeback victory over Camden. On the other hand the Scrappers got past the boys from Magnolia, 20-13, just last week.

Another mutual opponent, the DeQueen Leopards fell to both Nashville and Hope but by very different margins. The Bobcats downed DeQueen early in the year 27-7, but Nashville had a considerably harder time with the Leopards, pulling it out late in the game, 20-13.

A win this Friday night would allow the Bobcats to finish the season with a better than average 6-4-1 despite the slump.

However the issue is not how good or how bad the teams will finish the season due to the outcome of the game. The real issue is the intense rivalry between the two schools. And chiefly for this reason and no other except for the fact that the game should be very close, the Arkansas Gazette has cited the game as one of the best dozen games around the state this week-end.

The opening kickoff is slated for 7:30 at Nashville. The game will be the climax of the day's homecoming activities at Nashville High School and a very opportune occasion for the Cat's third victory in a row.

Blevins Sr. Boys Take 4th in Row

Three Basketball games were held at Blevins Tuesday as the Laneburg Hornets.

In the Junior Boys game Laneburg was victorious over the Blevins team by a score of 36 to 23 and Spicer led Blevins with 14 points.

In the Senior Girls game, Blevins took an easy victory from the visitors by a score of 32 to 17. Turnage led Blevins with 10 points and Stell led Laneburg with 6.

The Blevins Senior Boys overwhelmed Laneburg by a score of 84 to 42. Hicks led Blevins with 19 points and Smith followed with 14. Purtle led Laneburg with 23.

Clyde Devine of San Carlos, Calif. has officiated in the All-American Conference, the National Football League and the American Football League. He began officiating in 1938 in the Pacific Coast Conference.

"Spanky" at Collier's Thursday Afternoon

Toby Kimball's Lesson

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BOSTON—(NEA)—At first, overtime games were Toby Kimball's main worry.

"I kept thinking what would happen," Toby said. "If we called a timeout and the coach wants to set me up for the last shot and I don't know what he's talking about."

"About all I knew how to say was 'Passa the balla over here.'"

Toby Kimball is a rookie forward with the Boston Celtics this year. Last season he was very much a rookie with the Ignis team of Varese in the Italian Basketball League.

"I was lucky," Toby said. "There were two players on my team who could speak English. They were my interpreters."

They must have done a good job; Ignis won the Italian championship last season.

"Actually," Toby said, "I didn't have that much trouble after the first month or so. I took lessons and by the end of my seventh month I worked for the Ignis Co. as an interpreter (Ignis is a large appliance company in Europe).

"The company sponsored the team for the same reason others in Italy did: it was a good way to advertise. The company felt it could reach more people through the basketball team than it could

"Gosh, it's all gone," says Alfalfa, staring at the empty bottle, as Spanky, Darla, Porky and Buckwheat look on in this scene of an "Our Gang" Comedy. To the young TV viewers of today, this group is known as the "Little Rascals." Spanky now of course a grown up man and a guest star on many TV programs, will be at Collier Furniture and Appliances in Hope, Thursday, November 10, from 1:00 to 6 p.m. He will be giving away balloons and bubble gum to all children who come by to see him.

In the media over there.

"Most of the teams in the league (there are 11) play in nice gymnasiums which seat between 5,000 and 7,000.

"In the championship game against Simmenthal we played in Rome in the arena where they held the Olympic basketball in 1960. We had 15,000 for that game."

Each team is allowed one American player, but eventually the restrictions may be lowered to permit two.

Doug Moe of North Carolina. Skip Thoren of Illinois and Warren Isaac of Iowa were some of the other Americans playing there. Bill Bradley, the Princeton All-American, later joined Simmenthal in the European Cup Tournament.

"I had a choice of the Celtics or going to Europe to play," the University of Connecticut graduate said. "It was a difficult decision."

"I heard through a New York newspaperman—Milton

This is how Spanky looks today.

Gross—that the European basketball was a good deal financially and that it was all very much on the up-and-up," Toby said. "Apparently Milt knew someone connected with the league because I got some letters asking if I was interested."

"A representative of the Ignis Co. was over here on business and he got in touch with me. I spent three days with him and he explained the program. Next I went to Red Auerbach and told him the situation."

"He agreed with me that I didn't have much of a chance

They will be sorry to see him go, of course, because they like Bo personally and for the way he teaches football."

But if and when he announces his departure, perhaps sometime this winter, he will be wished every success, patted on the back and bid goodbye.

It was the same for John Pont when he left for Yale (now at Indiana), Ara Parseghian when he left for Northwestern (now at Notre Dame), Woody Hayes when he went to Ohio State... the same for George Blackburn, who's now at Virginia, and Sid Gillman, now with the San Diego Chargers.

"It's a nice tradition," says Miami alumnus Clive Rush, former head coach at Toledo and now assistant to New York Jets' head coach Weeb Ewbank, also a Miami grad.

"When you're hired at Miami, it is automatically as-to make the Celtics that year. Then he told me something I'll never forget, and I'll always admire him for it. He told me what I should work on to improve myself so I could come back and eventually make it with the Celtics. Mainly I had to learn to move around the outside a little better."

Shortly after, Toby was off for Italy.

"We used to run three miles in the morning and then have a two-hour workout in the evening," Toby said. "The fans expect a lot from the Americans. In fact, the press really got on Bradley last year because he just wasn't sharp and looked bad in a couple of games."

Tigers Play El Dorado Friday Night

By JOSEPH WITHERSPOON AND JAMES HAMILTON

The Yerger High School Tigers will be back in action this week when they journey to El Dorado, Arkansas, to play the Washington High School Hornets.

The Tigers won their last game defeating Camden 15-13. Yerger is now seventh in the Big Ten standings, and a win would put them in the fifth spot in the standings. The Tigers off to a slow start this season is now among the top rated high school teams in the state.

The Tiger offense started playing great football when Rookie Quarterback Frank Prater gained the experience he needed for the offense to score more points. The Tigers now have an effective field goal kicker in Ernest Standokes who can boot them 20 to 25 yards out. Standokes, a senior, has been a great help to them this year with. If the team plays the type of game they played against Camden, they think they will be victorious this Friday night when they play the Hornets of El Dorado.

sumed that you will win and then move on to a bigger coaching job. If you don't move up in four or five years, then they'll think something's wrong with you."

For Schembechler, first name Glenn, the rumors are flying now. Wisconsin and Minnesota are quickly mentioned. So is Ohio State, where Woody Hayes is having his worst season in 16 years. Schembechler came to Miami from Ohio State, having worked as Hayes' assistant.

"I turned down a couple of offers last year," said Schembechler, who is 37. One is known to be the University of Pittsburgh; the other he wouldn't say.

"Yes, I am amenable to offers. I'm no different than anybody else, when it comes to improving one's self."

Beyond that, Schembechler could say no more. It would not, he said, be fair to his team to talk publicly of changing jobs in the middle of a season.

"Sure, Bo will move on," said Miami athletic director Dick Shrider. "We'd hate to lose him, but when a top job opens it seems they automatically look in our direction."

"It's a tradition. Every body knows about our reputation for turning out coaches and they know anybody they get from Miami will probably be a good one."

"Yes, we turn out football coaches here—on all levels. We must have hundreds of high school head coaches. You hear people who knock kids for majoring in physical education. Football—or physical education—is part of our way of life in this country. Some body's got to be a football coach. We try to teach it right here."

Schembechler had no trouble fitting into that Miami coaching mold. He played at Miami under Blackburn at Hayes, 1948-50. Some of the other players of that era, now coaches, are Paul Dietzel (South Carolina), Carm Cozza (Yale), John McVay (Dayton), Doc Urich (Buffalo) and Ed Biles (Xavier).

When Schembechler goes his successor doubtless will be a Miami grad now serving as an assistant somewhere. The assistants are all over the place. There's even one at Slippery Rock.

Women seem to cope more adequately than men with Christmas shopping, perhaps because they have the knack of elbowing themselves directly to the counters no matter how many scars they give and receive on the way. So before the unwary male sets forth to do battle with hordes of determined females he would be wise to spend a few evenings in a cozy chair with pencil, paper and the local newspaper with all its ads. This way he can plan his attack on the stores with some knowledge of what he wants and where he can find it.

Tasty Fruit Salad For Thanksgiving

A zesty salad combining fresh grapefruit and apples, arranged attractively on crisp lettuce, makes an appealing and refreshing course between the roast or turkey and a heavy dessert.

| 2 medium-sized fresh grapefruit  | Head lettuce            |
| 2 medium-sized red eating apples | Paprika                 |
|                                  | Paprika French dressing |
- Wash and peel grapefruit, being sure to remove all white portion underneath skin. Over a bowl to catch juice, cut grapefruit into sections by running a knife on either side of dividing membrane, cutting it to center of grapefruit. Remove sections. Save juice to use in dressing. Wash apples, cut into eighths (unpeeled), cut out cores and dip into some of grapefruit juice to prevent discoloration. Arrange lettuce and fruit as desired on serving dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve with Paprika French Dressing.

- Combine salad oil, paprika, salt, onion and pepper. Let stand at least 1 hour for flavors to blend. Add sugar, grapefruit juice and lemon juice. Beat vigorously with rotary beater. Serve over grapefruit-apple salad. Six servings.

Season Topper

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sweaters and skirts are winter favorites and a stole to match the skirt adds a smart touch.

This skirt and stole can be made from 2 1/2 yards of 42- to 52-inch fabric. Wool jersey and lightweight tweed challis are good fabrics to use. Stripes and checks are highly favored and either makes up ideally in this combination.

Buy a length of colorful fabric, cut a 16-inch strip the full length of one side for the stole. Lay this aside.

From the larger piece, measure the length of your skirt plus 6 inches for hem and finishing. Cut two pieces, each this length. The small piece left over can be used for a pill box hat, pockets on your skirt or a cummerbund.

Cut a 24-inch strip from one side of one skirt length for a waistband.

Stitch the two skirt lengths together. Leave a 7-inch opening for a zipper on the left side. Insert the zipper. Top of zipper should be 3/4-inch from top of skirt.

Lay pleats in top of the skirt, taking up as much fullness as necessary to have the top of the skirt measure just 2 inches more than your waist. Divide the skirt into eighths with pins, then the pleats will easily be even.

Baste the skirt to the waistband. Try it on. Turn the hem to a becoming length. Slip-stitch hem to place. Turn waistband to wrong side, whip it to place.

Sew a large hook and eye on the waistband closing.

If pockets are used, slip-stitch the hems. Turn under the raw edges. Position the pockets becomingly when you fit the skirt. Then stitch or slip-stitch pockets to place.

If you are using a bulky fabric, see our diagram A which will show you how to have less fullness in the waistline. This tapers the side seam and lessens the fullness. See B for the waistband.

To finish the corners of the stole, turn and crease a hemline and trim the corners C. Turn and stitch the raw edges of the stole. Then catch to position as in D. Use stitches that will not show on the right side.

tinkle of silver bells, the festive shop windows and the sound of yuletide carols create an exciting atmosphere as you walk into a store to buy your first Christmas gift.

When you finally emerge from that crowded emporium, battered and weary, clutching a substitute for what you planned to buy (they didn't have what you wanted), peace and good will might well be spelled PHOOEY as far as you're concerned.

In a woman's world there's so much to choose from at every price level that shopping for the fair sex can be a taxing chore for the confused husband, baffled boy friend or even the gal who needs a few little gifts for her office cronies.

For what help they may be to the harried shopper, here are some pointers on what's around waiting to be purchased:

Both fine jewelry and costume pieces are always welcome. Charm bracelets are still big on the fashion scene and charms come in all sizes and at all prices. Just be sure to check the size of the charms and the type of metal already on HER bracelet so that you buy the right kind.

Pendant watches that swing from chains, and look for all the world like lockets or cameos, make handsome gifts. So do dangling, sparkling earrings that will twinkle in the dim light of her favorite disco. New this time around are see-through colored ear baubles that hold enough perfume to last through many wearings.

Gifts of beauty are sure hits for girls of any age. Jeweled lipstick cases, bath powder and purse atomizers are easy-to-find stocking stuffers.

Fragrance, of course, is a gift to delight any woman worthy of the name. If you know her preference, good. If you aren't adroit enough to find out, describe your fair lady to the salesperson. Tell her about the girl you're gifting—her hobbies, the type of clothes she likes to wear and what she looks like. She'll find a scent for you that will be right. Or you might just buy a fragrance YOU like and on the gift card say, "Wear this for me." It will work just fine.

At-home wear is another area to explore. All kinds of robes and culottes from terry to velvet are waiting to be snapped up. If you don't know the size you need, shop for the ones that come in "small," "medium" and "large." If you know the girl at all, you can't go too wrong.

The husband who plans to surprise his wife with the small fur she has wanted for years shouldn't do it. Furs are an expensive and very personal gift and it would be better to let her choose her own. So check the desire to surprise her with the real animal pelt in a gift-wrapped package. A gift certificate will be a wiser choice.

The most difficult gift to buy is the "little something,"—not expensive, just a thought. This calls for more imagination than most of us have during the holiday rush. But here are a few ideas.

You can buy a group of ballpoint pens in several different colors. The tops and barrels are interchangeable so that every girl can have a coordinated ensemble every day, right down to her matching pen.

Attractive nylon holders for hair rollers, bath brushes and even just one cake of expensive soap make good small gifts.

Alex. H. WashburnOf No Importance —
A Vote on Viet Nam Withdrawal

For piling absurdity upon absurdity I cite you the case of a small balliwick in the state of Michigan which thought it would be an earth-shaking idea to put on the ballot the question: "Should the United States withdraw its troops from Viet Nam?"

It may have sounded like a reasonable practice in democratic procedure—but to the rest of the nation it appeared to be merely the whimsy of a rural community... intruding where it had no business intruding—in the field of foreign relations, for which the President and the Congress are specifically responsible. And specifically barred from this field by the Logan law and by every precedent in America's history are individuals, whether acting alone or in concert, as in the case of the Michigan community which sought to make Viet Nam a voting issue.

All this may sound autocratic in a self-governing nation, but fundamentally it is a safeguard to prevent the People from destroying their own Government.

How, for instance, would you get American boys to risk life and limb in a foreign war knowing in advance that at any moment the rug might be jerked out from under them by a mob of ignorants voting piously in the precious safety of a domestic booth thousands of miles away from battle?

It's a cowardly and disgusting picture—not excused one little bit by the fact that the Michigan misfits did finally reject the proposal to quit Viet Nam. Their unbelievable sin was in permitting crackpots to honor treason with a place on the ballot. The U.S. Constitution lodges responsibility for international decisions entirely with the people's elected officials, and any counter action by people individually is explicitly forbidden.

The people have a remedy at law, and that one remedy only: If displeased with our foreign policy they can defeat the present policy-makers and elect new ones.

But we are under treaty contract to protect South Viet Nam from seizure by the Communists, thereby safeguarding Australia, the Philippines and our military and commercial position in the Western Pacific—and it is highly unlikely that whoever else you may elect will consider for even an instant wenching on a treaty and dishonoring America's good name.

What the less-informed Americans will be a long time waking up to is the historical fact that being a top-dog nation carries with it the grief of fighting a never-ending series of minor wars around the world.

Rome had that grief, then Spain, France, and England—each in its time standing where the U.S.A. stands today.

What you have to reckon with is factual history—which makes the voting whimsies of the Michigan misfits as futile as snowflakes falling on an armored division.

To Reorganize
the Police in India

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was today reported preparing to name Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan, who reorganized the Indian army after its defeat by Red China in 1962, to do a similar job on India's beleaguered police forces.

A source close to Mrs. Gandhi said Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda, whose ministry controls the police and investigative agencies, had offered his resignation in the wake of New Delhi's rioting Monday, worst in nearly two decades.

Nanda, India's acting prime minister after the deaths of both Jawaharlal Nehru and Lal Bahadur Shastri, was blamed for failing to prevent the bloody campaign in the capital Monday. Seven persons were killed and 600 were injured as thousands of Hindus demanding a national ban on the slaughtering of cows roamed the streets in an orgy of arson, destruction and looting.

City officials estimated the damage at more than $1 million, including the burning of 250 cars, 100 motor scooters and six municipal buses.

Hope Soldier
Is Wounded
in Battle

Sgt. Robert D. Horne, Hope, was wounded in action this week in Viet Nam, his mother, Mrs. Thelma Horne of 115 South Greening Street was notified yesterday.

He was wounded in the arm and returned to Brook Army Hospital at San Antonio, Texas for treatment.

Mrs. Horne said today she did not know the extent of his injuries but had talked to her son by telephone.

A 9-yr. veteran, Sgt. Horne was with the 196th Flight Infantry Brig. which is now locked in battle with the communist forces in Viet Nam.

CAB Crackdown
on Drinking

NEW YORK (AP) — After more than six months of discussions aimed at uniformity, seven major airlines have agreed on a code limiting domestic passengers to no more than 4.8 ounces of distilled liquor while in flight.

The agreement, expected to set the pattern for in-flight drinking throughout the United States, is to be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

It was signed Wednesday by American, Braniff International, Central, Continental, Delta, Northeast and Southern Airways. Other carriers are expected to sign, industry spokesmen said.

The airlines also decided on a charge of at least $1 for each miniature bottle of 1.6 ounces or its equivalent in all classes except first class where the higher fare covers the drink cost.

Represents Parking
Be Eliminated on
67 in Downtown Area

Representatives of the Traffic Planning Division of the Arkansas State Highway Department met with the City Board of Directors and recommended that all parking be eliminated on 3rd Street between Louisiana and Shover Streets, and that truck loading at Ritchie Grocery Company be discontinued on the 3rd Street side.

The City Directors had asked the Highway Department to check the possibility of putting left turn lanes on highway 67 at each of the traffic lights.

J. D. Barnett, Traffic Engineer for the Highway Dept., told the Directors that left turn lanes could not be put in without eliminating parking, and that the truck loading at Ritchie Grocery was causing an awful bottleneck to the traffic flow.

He also said that the downtown traffic jam could not be improved without providing a place to hold the left turning movements.

J. D. Barnett of the Planning Division told the Board that the traffic on Highway 67 had almost doubled in the last 5 years, and had now reached the point where something should be done to remove the problem as far as possible.

Mr. Carvel has worked with the City for several years, trying various signal arrangements and timing in an attempt to im-

Bloody Fight
Increases
Death Toll

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The bloody battle for Tay Ninh Province pushed the toll of American dead in the Viet Nam war last week to double the number the week before the weekly casualty report revealed today.

The U.S. Command announced that 127 Americans were killed last week, 605 were wounded and eight were missing or captured. The week before 66 Americans were killed and 493 were wounded, according to revised figures issued today.

Both South Vietnamese government and enemy casualties were reduced, but the enemy dead did not include the toll in the most recent fighting in Tay Ninh.

At Cam Ranh Bay, across from the huge American air and supply base President Johnson visited last month, an old French wharf collapsed early today, killing possibly 20 Vietnamese and injuring about 100, a U.S. spokesman reported.

Gemini 2
Shot Slated
for Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. AP Technicians checked and rechecked a new automatic pilot in the astronauts' Titan 2 rocket today, hoping that no new problem would crop up to force a third delay of the Gemini 12 flight.

Meanwhile, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. continued to practice key phases of their four-day flight in a spacecraft simulator and to bone up on their complex flight plan.

The double header Gemini 12 launching is scheduled to start at 2:08 p.m. EST Friday when an Atlas rocket hurls an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. Gemini 12 is to set sail at 3:46 p.m.

Lovell and Aldrin were frustrated on two earlier launching dates—Wednesday and today by troubles with the autopilot system which is needed to steer the Titan 2 on a true course during the vital six minutes the rocket operates.

The problems were associated with a secondary system which would operate automatically if the primary autopilot failed.

Gemini 12 will be the last of the Gemini series, leading to the first earth orbit flight of a three-man Apollo moonship early in 1967.

Lovell and Aldrin plan to wrap up the loose ends of the Gemini program, with a main goal of learning what problems must be overcome before man can effectively operate outside an orbiting ship.

PANAMA (AP) — Thirty persons have died and 49 more are missing in floods in eastern Panama, government officials reported today.

Republican Governors
in Power

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans swept to victory in 20 governors' races election day with political newcomer Ronald Reagan and veteran George Romney leading the charge.

Eight Democratic-held governorships fell before the GOP surge, with the jewel in the Republican crown Reagan's one-sided triumph in California over Democratic incumbent Edmund G. Brown.

Democrats nibbled back by knocking over the Republican governors of Kansas and Maine, but over-all it was a banner day for the GOP.

Romney boosted his stock in the 1968 GOP presidential nomination sweepstakes with an easy third-term victory in Michigan over Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency. Republicans took over from the Democrats in Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Maryland, Nebraska, New Mexico and Nevada, as well as in California.

The Alabama governorship was kept in the Wallace household when Lurleen Wallace became the nation's first woman governor in 42 years. Standing in for her husband George C., who was ineligible to succeed himself, she trounced Republican Rep. James D. Martin in a race between segregationists.

Republican Claude Kirk Jr., a Jacksonville investment banker, put Florida in Republican hands for the first time since 1872, after accusing his Democratic opponent, Mayor Robert King High of Miami, of favoring Negroes.

Winthrop Rockefeller took Arkansas for the GOP for the first time since 1872 by defeating Democrat Jim Johnson, a staunch segregationist.

Republican Spiro T. Agnew won a birthday victory in Maryland — he's 48 today — over Democrat George P. Mahoney, who alienated party liberals by campaigning with the slogan "Your home is your castle — protect it."

New York stayed in Republican hands when Nelson A. Rockefeller won a third term in a four-sided race.

In all, 35 governorships were up for grabs. Twenty went to the Republicans and 10 to the Democrats. In the five other races, Republicans were leading in three and Democrats in two.

Germans Pick
Kiesinger

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's dominant Christian Democratic party today chose Kurt Georg Kiesinger, minister-president of Baden-Wuerttemberg, as its candidate to succeed Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at the head of the federal government.

On the third and final ballot, Kiesinger won 137 votes, against 81 for Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder and 26 for Rainer Barzel, the party's parliamentary leader.

Pilkinton Trails
Britt With Only

Democrats to Forget
Partisan Politics

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, Arkansas' new Republican governor-elect, called Wednesday for members of the Democratic-controlled state legislature to forget partisan politics and work harmoniously for the future of the state.

"All of us-republicans, Democrats and Independents-working in harmony with each other and in harmony with God's will, can accomplish great purpose," Rockefeller said in a statement after his gubernatorial victory over Democrat Jim Johnson.

"We can no longer mix politics with these objectives," he said. . . To the members of the General Assembly, I state that I will do my best to work with them on every program that will benefit the people of Arkansas, regardless of partisan politics."

Joe Basore, who managed the Democrats' campaign against the greatest GOP effort in the state's history, said in a statement that the Democrats should accept no program without thoroughly analyzing it. He said, however, that the Democrats time be willing "to support legislation suggested by the Republican governor that is sound and just."

Rockefeller piled up an unofficial lead of 299,105 to 254,338 over Johnson with 2,695 of 2,709 precincts reported, but the GOP effort did little to change the complexion of the Arkansas legislature.

The Republicans won two seats in the House, but lost their lone incumbent representative. They also lost an incumbent in the Senate who had switched his party affiliation from Democratic to Republican. The GOP failed to land a man in the Senate.

The Republicans offered 35 candidates for the House and six for the Senate.

John Paul Hammerschmidt, the Republican candidate in the 3rd Congressional District, however, unseated Democratic incumbent J. W. Trimble and the GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, Maurice Footsie Britt, was holding a slim lead over his Democratic rival, James Pilkinton, with returns still incomplete.

Rockefeller was asked at a news conference whether any Democrats would join his official family at the Capitol.

"Without those Democrats in whom I have confidence I would not be sitting here today," he said.

LATEST COUNT
IN ALL RACES

Suggests a Goodwill Trip

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — While celebrating his 48th birthday with his family in Charlotte, evangelist Billy Graham suggested that President Johnson make a goodwill trip to Europe to show that the United States is not neglecting its European allies.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Republican Maurice Footsie Britt moved into the lead in the lieutenant governor's race Wednesday night after appearing to have been out of the running earlier in the day.

Late unofficial returns trickling in from Sebastian and Pulaski Counties inched Britt past Democrat James Pilkinton, who had made a victory statement Wednesday when his margin seemed to be insurmountable.

With some precincts still unreported, the unofficial vote in Tuesday's election was: Britt 272,071, Pilkinton 270,954.

"It's good to be back in the race," Britt said.

He wasn't claiming victory, however.

"It's too early to claim victory," he said. "There's too much of a chance for an election contest."

He said, however, in a brief talk to supporters Wednesday night at Republican headquarters, "It's a wonderful privilege to be the new lieutenant governor."

Four precincts were still unreported in Sebastian County, in which Britt showed considerable strength, and four absentee boxes were unreported in Pulaski County, where the Republican also was running ahead of Pilkinton.

Jefferson County had five precincts uncounted and Searcy and Pope Counties one each.

Pilkinton said he wouldn't make a statement until "I see what the official certification is."

"I don't think unofficial counts in Arkansas are worth very much," he said.

Pilkinton, the Hope city attorney, almost missed the Democratic primary, in which he apparently had run third in a field of eight, but corrected vote totals made him second and pitted him in the run-off against Joe Basore, who Pilkinton defeated.

It appeared unlikely that his race against Britt will be decided until the official vote is certified to the secretary of state, which may take as long as 10 days.

Britt staged his comeback in the afternoon Wednesday when additional returns began coming from Benton, Pulaski, Searcy and Sebastian Counties.

Earlier, Pilkinton had issued a statement thanking voters for electing him. Asked about serving under a Republican governor, Pilkinton said: "Let us lay partisan politics aside for the next two years and regardless of how we may have voted in this election, all work for the good of the state."

Group to Check
Infiltration

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Anti-Communist leaders from 23 countries and regions agreed today to form a "World Anti-Communist League" to coordinate movements across the world to check Communist infiltration.

They adopted a draft charter which is to be signed Tuesday at the final session of the 12th annual convention of the Asian Peoples Anti-Communist League.

Delegates are attending the convention from Australia, Ceylon, Hong Kong, India, Iran, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, South Korea, Laos, Liberia, Libya, Macao, Malaysia, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, the Ryukyus, Somalia, Thailand, Turkey, South Viet Nam and Nationalist China.

Charity Going to Both Sides

LONDON (AP) — Organizers of a Viet Nam charity concert bowed to protests from show business personalities Sunday night and agreed that money raised would pay for medical aid to both sides in the war — not just the Viet Cong.

PAPER DOLLS HAD A BALL

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

HARTFORD, Conn. Doubtful menfolk expected the evening to be what the British call "ripping." After all, their ladies were wearing paper dresses. Indeed, a few old teases brought scissors.

Not even the women were really sure their pulpy gowns created by famous designers or embellished by themselves would really withstand the strain of a full night of gyrations to rock music.

Some went to pre-cocktail and dinner parties in their old reliable gowns, then in the hotel powder rooms switched to their paper sacks. Some who made their entrances in paper dresses were back in the restrooms halfway through the party to change into a fabric gown because, as one guest said, "I was tired of sweating it out."

Just in case there were tears, the powderroom maid carried a full supply of scotch tape. A little stickum on a shoulder strap prevented the only near disaster, though.

The paper dresses also withstood spilled drinks and cigarette ashes. The fire marshal was especially worried about the latter. Before the party, he took a careful look at the paper party decorations and the dresses themselves. He gave his okay but with the suggestion, "Next year, ladies, why not an asbestos ball?"

Beef Short Ribs

Remain Popular

Because of Flavor

Have you ever noticed how frequently beef short ribs appear on the menus of good eating places?

The answer to this popularity lies in their flavor. Short ribs are cut from the rib ends of beef rib roasts and are considered gourmet fare by hotels and restaurants. They may be served braised, seasoned with salt and pepper, or they're often braised with a barbecue-style sauce as a snappy contrast.

Beef short ribs are usually marketed as serving-size pieces, explains Reba Staggs, meat expert. Composed of alternating layers of lean and fat, they need no additional fat when browned.

Short Ribs Supreme

3 pounds beef short ribs
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 cup catsup
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Brown ribs on all sides in own fat. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour. Pour off drippings. Mix remaining ingredients and add to meat. Cover tightly and continue to cook 1 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. 4 to 6 servings.

Iran's small output of gold-enriched imperial caviar is reserved exclusively for the shah.

Catch On To Tuna Savings

Here's a tuna-cabbage combo that's tops in thrift and taste. When it comes to feeding a family, canned tuna provides exactly what every homemaker wants—body-building protein comparable to that of lean meat, and economy. You can depend on tuna to hold the line in today's market of rising prices. Hot Tuna Skillet Casserole is a hearty main dish that the whole family will enjoy and it takes only minutes to prepare.

Hot Tuna Skillet Casserole
2 cans (16 1/2 or 7 oz. each) tuna in vegetable oil
6 cups shredded cabbage
4 carrots, grated
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon celery seed
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup mayonnaise
Drain vegetable oil into large skillet and heat. Sauté cabbage, carrots and green pepper for about 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle celery seed and vinegar over cabbage, toss in tuna. Cover skillet and continue cooking for about 5 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Fold in mayonnaise thoroughly and serve immediately. Serve with baked or mashed potatoes. YIELD: 4 servings

Star Cast Makes 'Luv' Blossom

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — On the stage, all the action of "Luv" took place on the Manhattan Bridge. For the picture, now shooting in the Goldwyn Studio, they have naturally written in some other sets.

I visited the studio when they were working in the living room of the house which supposedly belongs to Peter Falk and Elaine May. It wasn't the kind of house I had visualized when I saw the play—it was too lavish, too pretty, too tastefully decorated. It should have been done in split-level stob.

"That's the hard part of a picture like this," said producer Martin Manulis. "Everybody has his ideas about what things should look like. To me, this room is just right."

Manulis, incidentally, says he'll help what he calls "the comeback" of dramatic television. He used to produce Playhouse 90 so he's rooting for the comeback. Manulis says he has agreed to do one dramatic show for CBS next season.

"But only one," he says. "I'll leave the weekly stuff to younger men."

Jack Lemmon is enthusiastic over his role in "Luv." And he's even more enthusiastic about Elaine May.

"She is the best actress I've worked with," he says. "She thinks. When you're in a scene with Elaine, you work with her, not at her. She makes me think of Judy Holliday, the way she's concerned with how a scene works as a whole, not just about her part in it."

Jack, as usual, has strong opinions about most things. Among his observations:

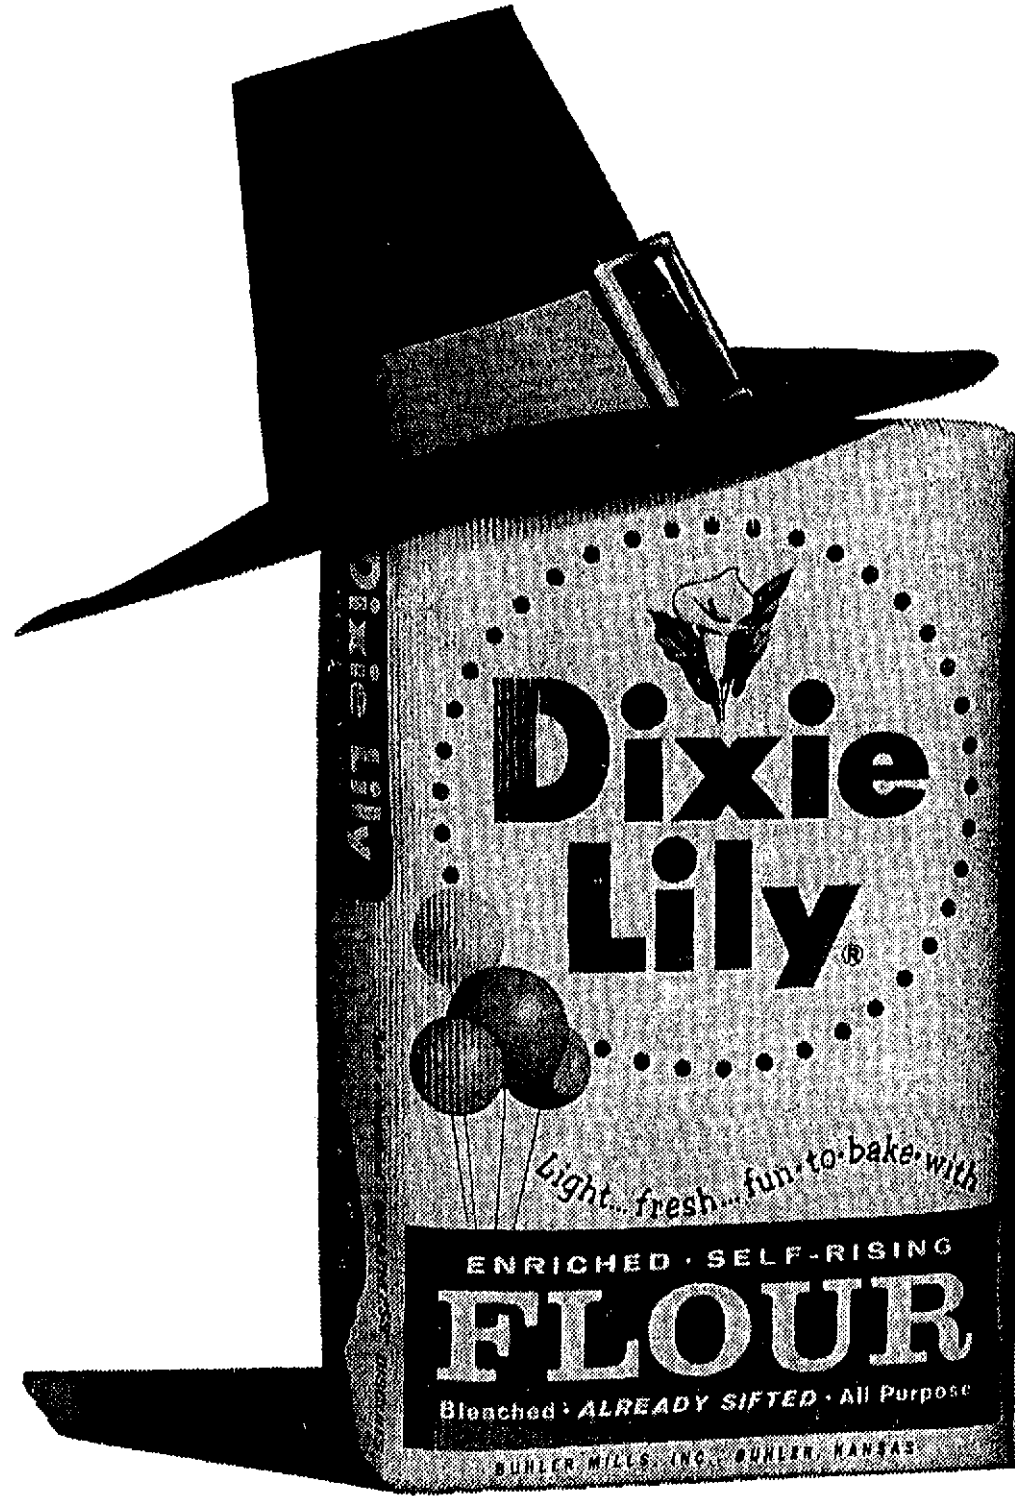

"In 'The Fortune Cookie,' I play it straight but I don't think people realize it. They expect me to be funny, but I'm not and I'm not supposed to be. It was a difficult part."

"Whenever I go to a screening of a picture I've done, I am surprised. The scenes never work out as you think they're going to. Making a picture is like a string of pearls—individually, the scenes may be fine, but it's how you string them that makes the picture good or bad."

"Alan Arkin is the best young actor I've seen in years. I hate to see him come along—no, I'm only kidding. But he can certainly play my parts."

"This picture ('Luv') is the toughest part I've ever had. It's tough physically and, besides, it's a tenuous thing—like acting a bubble."

"Billy Wilder still has it. I'd work for him tomorrow—and without a script, as I always have."

Thanksgiving's coming. (Serve 'em your best!)

Suggestion: An easy to make, quick to bake, feathery light dessert cake. One you can create with assured pride when you bake it with the traditionally premium flour, Dixie Lily.

Butter Rum-Cider Cake

12 to 14 servings

3 cups Dixie Lily self-rising flour*
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
3 eggs
1 cup apple cider
3/4 cup milk
Butter Rum Frosting
Walnut halves, optional

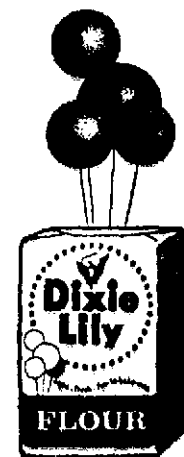

Grease and wax paper line bottoms of three 8-inch round cake pans. Preheat oven to 350°. Sift together flour, allspice, nutmeg and cinnamon. In large mixing bowl cream together butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Blend together cider and milk. Blend flour mixture into creamed mixture alternately with cider mixture, beginning and ending with flour. Beat well after each addition. Turn into pans. Bake 25 to 30 minutes, or until it springs back when touched lightly in the center. Cool in pans on wire racks 10 minutes before removing from pans. Cool completely before frosting. Fill and frost with Butter Rum Frosting. Garnish with walnut halves if desired.

Butter Rum Frosting

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup rum extract
1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar (about)
1/2 cup dark corn syrup

In small bowl cream butter or margarine. Beat in rum extract. Add confectioners sugar and syrup alternately to butter or margarine, beating well after each addition. If necessary add more sugar until proper spreading consistency is reached. Fill and frost cake.

*If you prefer Dixie Lily plain flour add 2 teaspoons baking soda and 1 1/2 teaspoons salt to flour before sifting.
